

South Shore Orthopedics Video/Recording Policy

In the State of Massachusetts, it is illegal to video/record a health care provider without their permission. Any illegal recording can then be reported by the clinician to the authorities. Possible repercussions include compensation for harm, attorney's fees, and other costs, with disseminating the recording via the Internet being considered an additional violation.

The clinician must be asked by the patient to record the clinical encounter.

If you feel you need to have your visit recorded, you must ask your provider for permission.

If you have any questions, please contact our Compliance Manager.
